

Statistician / Manager Biostatistics (m/f/d)

Your tasks & responsibilities

- Responsibility for all statistical aspects of planning and analyzing of clinical, epidemiological and non-interventional studies (development of study design, sample size, hypotheses, definition of appropriate analysis methods, performing statistical analyses)
- Evaluation of biostatistical solutions and application of established and innovative statistical methodology in medical research projects
- SAS programming (including macros)
- Generation of statistical parts of study documents (e.g. study protocol, statistical analysis plan, report)
- Providing statistical advice to and close collaboration with cross-functional project teams
- Contribution to publications and submissions to authorities
- Development, implementation and maintenance of statistical working instructions and SOPs

Your profile

- University degree in statistics or mathematics
- Several years of demonstrated experience in biostatistics in pharmaceutical industry, MedTech industry, CRO and/or academic institution
- Comprehensive knowledge of statistical methods for designing and analyzing medical research data
- Excellent knowledge of at least one statistical software package (preferred SAS)
- Good knowledge of respective regulatory guidelines would be an advantage
- Fluent English language skills
- Very good communication skills

Your contact

Fresenius Medical Care Deutschland GmbH
Bad Homburg
Kennziffer 24133

Career level:

Professional Experienced

Business segment:

Fresenius Medical Care

Job category:

Clinical Trial / Statistics

Location:

Bad Homburg / Hessen

Working condition:

Permanent contract / Full-time

Closing date for applications:

none - we look forward to your application